

SCHEDULE TRAINING COURSES 2026

Polish Register of Shipping (PRS) is an independent classification society offering a wide range of services and operating globally. PRS carries out its activities in cooperation with entities from nearly all sectors of the economy.

The name Polish Register of Shipping might suggest that our activities are exclusively related to shipbuilding and shipping. This is not the case, although the supervision of the construction and operation of ships and other floating structures constitutes a very important, traditional area of our business.

We also operate successfully in the areas of industrial supervision, certification of management systems, products, and personnel, as well as technical consulting, and we conduct our own scientific and research work. We share our knowledge and experience through training programs. These are a complement to our services for clients seeking to raise the standard of their operations by improving the qualifications of their management and staff.

Recognizing the importance of continuously improving our inspectors' knowledge and ensuring they have access to the latest legal regulations, we have established a system of ongoing training and inspector training programs.
